

The third annual Montgomery Museum Fine Art Festival took place on the lawn of the Museum on Saturday, May 14, 2005. The attendance was very encouraging despite a rainy afternoon. The artwork was amazing and the exhibitors seemed to enjoy their customers and the fellowship. The Young At Art exhibit was of interest to all the Festival goers. Many of the young artists came to see their work hung. Award ribbons were seen everywhere flying in the breeze. Food was organized and served by museum volunteers. Some very delicious homemade desserts were available. Live music and dance were enjoyed throughout the day. Of special interest were Kat Mill and Appalachian Contingency.
