

THE DOCUMENTATION OF THE CRAIG CEMETERY
By Bob Shelton and Clovis Linkous, 1999
Updated and Expanded by Sherry Joines Wyatt, 2011

The Craig Cemetery was once part of the large Hans Meadow estate owned by James Craig and his wife, Anne Montgomery Craig. James Craig was involved in the early establishment of Montgomery County (1776) and the Town of Christiansburg (1792). The first court session in what would become Christiansburg was held at Craig's home or ordinary on May 4, 1790.

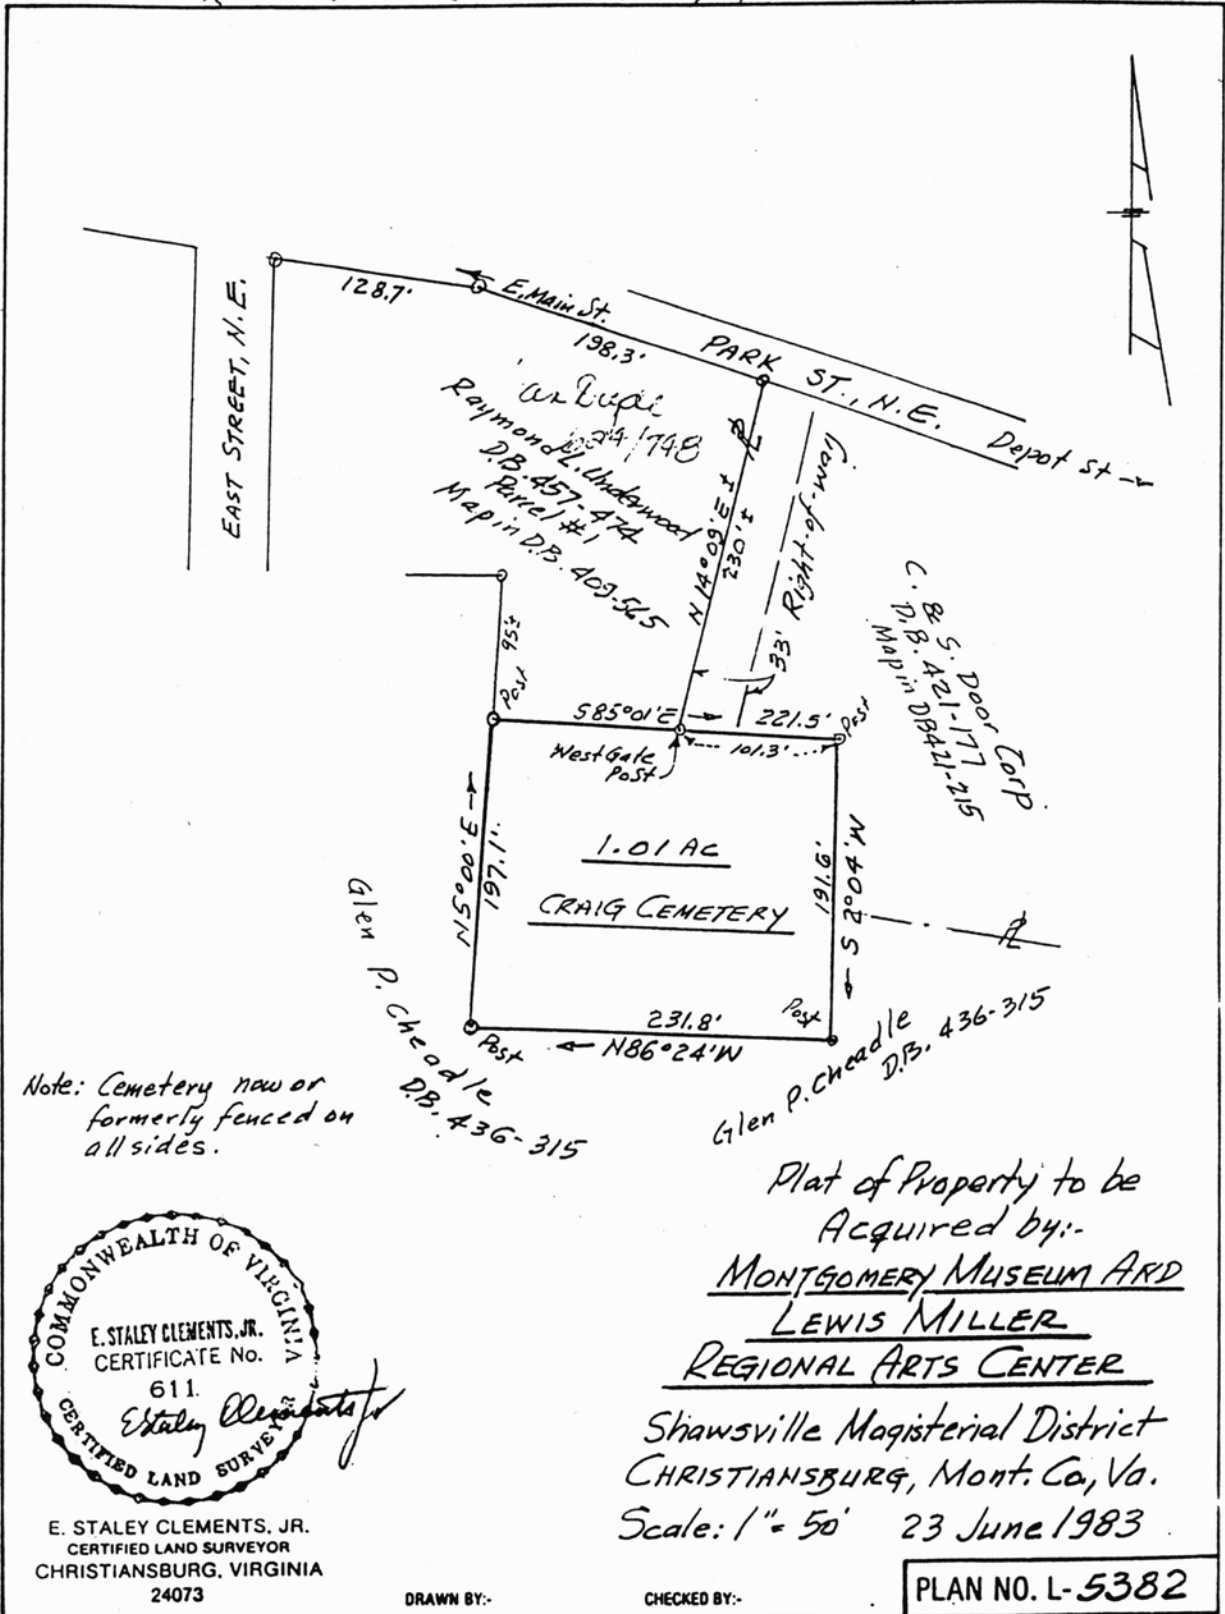

The earliest known burial in the cemetery date to 1806 and roughly a dozen families are represented. The cemetery was first formally set aside in the will of Mary T. Craig. It is one acre in area which if fully utilized by ordinary spacing of graves and walk ways would accommodate 640 graves, but physical evidence from the cemetery indicates that it is only about 24% utilized. Bob Shelton and Clovis Linkous identified 166 grave sites in 1999. The cemetery has been little used since about 1950. The last internment was in 1985; cremains were scattered in 2011. The family care that probably was once excellent has long since ceased. When the Montgomery Museum accepted the maintenance responsibility, the condition of the cemetery was physically deplorable and no records of who is buried where were found. Furthermore, we know of no agreement revealing family or individual eligibility for being buried in this cemetery.

Many of the graves in the cemetery never had a stone marker and the other graves have had their stones broken, fallen over or moved from a combination of weathering, vandalism and misguided efforts to clean up the cemetery. The grave sites only evidenced by a depression in the earth as well as graves with stones were documented in 1999 by Bob Shelton and Clovis Linkous, then Board Members of the Montgomery Museum. This was done with the approval of the Board as a base record of the whole cemetery showing the location of each identifiable grave using the fence lines as reference points. All headstones are on the west end of the grave and the graves lie in the east-west direction. There are 20 rough rows of graves running in the north-south direction. These "rows" are not parallel with the western fence, but rather the north end of a row is somewhat closer to the northwest corner than the south end is from the southwest corner. Also, numerous graves are clearly out of alignment with others that seem to define a row. There are no clearly evident walk ways or lots in the Craig Cemetery.

The borders of the cemetery are defined by a formal Survey incorporated in the Deed of Gift dated May 11, 1990, a copy of which is on the following page. (Please note that the 1993 Right of Way shown on this survey was altered in a Deed of Easement dated April 30, 1993).

The Montgomery Museum and Lewis Miller Regional Art Center accepted ownership of the Craig Cemetery as a gift in a deed executed on May 11, 1990. Also, as permitted by a Decree of the Circuit Court on May 29, 1991, the Museum accepted a fund from a Trust established by Mary Sherwood Flagg to be used for the rendering immediate care and future maintenance of the cemetery.

Alphabetical List of Known Interred Persons

Bob Shelton and Clovis Linkous identified 166 graves in their 1999 inventory. This inventory also made use of a partial inventory of 69 names, made c.1950 by Marvin U. Neighbors, that was included in Lula Porterfield Givens' book, Christiansburg Montgomery County Virginia, In the Heart of the Alleghenies. There are 50 unknown burials. Not included by Shelton and Linkous is information found in a partial list of burials in Anne Lowell Worrell's 1934 book Over the Mountain Men. It should be noted that many of the headstones are worn and difficult to read. There may be reading errors. In some cases, the reading of names and dates by the Givens source or Worrell differed from that of Shelton and Linkous. In these cases the Shelton and Linkous reading is presented.

In the following tables the source of the information is as follows:

S-L: 1999 Survey Bob Shelton and Clovis Linkous

MN: c.1950 Survey by Marvin U. Neighbors; the location of headstones is not part of this list

ALW: 1934 Survey by Anne Lowell Worrell in her book Over the Mountain Men; the location of headstones is not part of this list.
